Wood's Corner Store (TAC-14)

This two-story brick Italianate style building was constructed between 1879 and 1886. Stone pilasters support stone lintels. Semi-circular arches broken by simulated keystone accent the tin cornice. Pedimented hood molds enhance the second floor windows with a decorative scroll work on the crest. Leaded glass transoms span above the storefront windows.

Known as Wood's Corner Store for the original owner, James M. Wood, Wood sold this two-story building to Judge John W. Cloyd and Frank P. Turner in 1888 who ran a general store until Turner sold his one-half interest to Cloyd in 1890. Cloyd continued a general store on the first floor with clothing and furnishings on the second through the early-20th century.

At one point Judge Cloyd opened one of Campbellsville's first chain stores, Quaker Maid Grocery, until the A & P took over the grocery and they moved into a new building farther east on Main. Ray Taylor operated the Western Auto here for twenty years before Chester and Ina Blakeman took over the business in 1958, remaining here until the early-1980's. Rainey's Pawn Shop occupied the building until 2011. As of 2012, Sharlow & Associates CPA are located here.
